

Utah Interagency Fire Information

---

Cooperating Agencies:

www.utahfireinfo.gov - Utah Fire Information Center: (801) 517-1027

Bureau of Indian Affairs

For Immediate Release
October 2, 2003

Contact: Jim Springer (801) 538-5324

Bureau of Land Management

HUNTERS URGED TO EXERCISE CAUTION WITH FIRE

Fire officials are asking hunters to exercise caution in the use of fire during the upcoming general deer hunt. While fire danger is not extreme, many areas of the state remain dry and wildland fire could still be a problem, as evidenced by the recent Cascade II fire near Heber City.

National Park Service

“Temperatures are down but grasses and timber are still very dry,” said State Forester Joel Frandsen. “Carelessness with a campfire or off road ATV use could result in a wildland fire when our resources to deal with it are minimal, so we’re urging hunters and other back country recreationists not to become complacent.”

State of Utah,
Forestry, Fire and State Lands

The cost of suppressing a wildland fire can be passed on to those responsible for starting it. Even a small fire can cost many thousands of dollars to control.

U.S. Forest Service

“We want everyone to enjoy their outdoor experience,” said Frandsen, “A little caution will ensure an enjoyable outing.”

###